

To Whom It May Concern:

As first time homebuyers, we were nervous, to say the least, about the perils that lay in wait for us as we looked to finance our new home. Our builder gave us certain "incentives" to go with their preferred lender, but Roy Jones matched their offer on paper, and exceeded their customer service by leaps and bounds. The perils that we feared turned into small speed bumps as soon as we chose Home Source Mortgage.

Our situation was unique in that we had to close within a month. Roy Jones and his team at Home Source Mortgage worked tirelessly to make sure that could happen. If we could pay them more for the amount of work they did, we would.

Looking back over our experience with Home Source, we almost think it was too easy. We had heard plenty of stories regarding the ordeals of buying a home. Home Source amply prepared us for any situations that might arise, but none did, thanks to the diligent work of Roy Jones and his team.

From ecstatic new homeowners,
